THE GATEWAY TO AFRICAN MARKET: TUNISIA

- Tunisia is emerging as one of the major production sites of clothing products in the Euro-Mediterranean zone. It’s the sixth largest supplier of textile to Europe; more than 95% of Tunisian exports go to Europe. In 2018, France, Italy, and Germany took 80% of all Tunisian exports.

- Being among the most competitive economies in Africa and the Arab world, the Tunisian economy offers businesses an environment of higher quality than those found in main competing countries.

- The Textile & Clothing sector is positioned as a pillar of Tunisian industry and retains a prominent place in the national economy and maintains a strong contribution to the socio-economic balances of Tunisia.

- As for external trade, the textile and clothing sector continues to be characterized by a strong dependence on foreign markets because foreign markets provide supplies of raw materials and capital goods needed for production and the marketing of its products. The T&A sector is positioned as a cornerstone of the Tunisian industry and keeps a prominent place in the national economy while maintaining a strong contribution to the socio-economic balance of Tunisia.

- Activities such as spinning, weaving, finishing, hosiery, clothing in Tunisia are increasingly competitive in the region and make the Tunisian site more favourable to foreign direct investment.
